"KILLS" ENGINE IN TRAIN'S PATH

Paul Cruitt, Driving Automobile Belonging to Gowdy Man, Gets Excited in Tight Place.

TWO GOWDY BOYS WITH HIM

Harry Headlee and George Solomon Only Ones Seriously Hurt—Accident in Ripley County.

Word reached here today of a serious accident on a railroad crossing in Dabney, Ripley county, in which an automobile belonging to a Gowdy farmer was demolished and two young men from Gowdy had miraculous escapes from death.

Paul Cruitt, of Dabney, was driving a new touring car belonging to Alexander Solomon of Gowdy. He "killed" the engine in the path of a B. & O. S. W. fast train on the crossing in Dabney Sunday and was the only one of the three in the car who escaped without serious injuries.

George Solomon, son of the owner of the car, was most seriously hurt. He sustained a fractured skull and there may be some doubt about his recovery. He was otherwise bruised from the impact.

Harry Headlee, of Gowdy, the third occupant of the car, has a fractured ankle as a result of the accident. It was stated in Gowdy Tuesday that Headlee was thrown higher than the train and that it was supposed he would be killed.

Fortunately the wreckage of the car and the three men in it were thrown clear of the path of the engine else they would have been killed. The automobile was reduced to splinters. It was said that the largest piece of machine intact was one of the wheels.

Mrs. Sallie Solomon, mother of the boy in the accident, Mr. Headlee and George Solomon had driven from Gowdy to Osgood, Ripley county, Sunday to visit relatives. While Mrs. Solomon was visiting, Headlee, the Solomon boy and Cruitt went out for a ride.

It happens that Cruitt is the crossing watchman where the train hit the machine. Cruitt was driving and when they approached the crossing in Dabney, Cruitt pulled out his watch and remarked that it was not time for the train. Headlee and Solomon supposed that he knew what he was talking about since he was the watchman at that crossing and did not question his assertion that there was no train due.

Not being accustomed to driving a car, Cruitt became excited when he saw the train bearing down upon them and in attempting to speed up the car, caused the engine to go dead. The three men had no time to jump.

The Solomon boy is sixteen years of age, and was removed to an Indianapolis hospital Sunday and has not improved sufficiently to be brought home. Indications today were that he would recover.

BOOSTERS WILL GO TO CARTHAGE

Hope to Take as Many Machines Wednesday Night as Went to Milroy Chautauqua Monday Night.

THIRTY AUTOS LAST NIGHT

Augmented by a large party of Rushville people, the Milroy chautauqua closed Monday night with the largest attendance of the assembly. Thirty machines filled with with people from this city went to Milroy for the chautauqua and were amply repaid for the visit. The Rushville people were given a fine reception. All of the machines did not leave the court house square at the same time, many taking advantage of the opportunity and attending the afternoon session of chautauqua.

Wednesday will be known as Rushville day at the Carthage chautauqua and a large delegation from this city will go there tomorrow night. The same plan will be followed. The machines will leave the court house square at 6:30 o'clock.

The Indiana State Log Rolling of the Modern Woodmen of America will be held this year at Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 22. One thousand dollars in prizes will be given to Foresters teams giving competitive drills. The local team is considering the matter of entering the contest.

CITY MEN NEED NO INSURANCE

Ruling of State Board of Accounts Regarding New Workmen's Compensation Law Received.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS EXEMPT

Not Necessary For Them to Take Out Insurance For Their Employees—Opinion Differ.

All public officials have been advised by the state board of accounts that it is not compulsory on them to take out insurance under the workmen's compensation law enacted by the last legislature. The letter out by the state board of accounts is as follows:

"It is not compulsory on public officials to take out insurance under the Workmen's Compensation law enacted by the legislature in 1915. This is the decision of the Industrial Board of Indiana in rule XV. All letters, circulars and representations to the contrary should be disregarded by all township trustees, county highway superintendents, county commissioners, city and town school corporations, state institutions, and state boards and officials."

City officials here have been approached by representatives of insurance companies wanting the insurance on city employees. This was especially true of employees at the water and light plant and it was at first thought that the insurance would have to be taken out. Under this ruling there is no reason for insuring these employees although several attorneys hold that the city will be compelled to take out the insurance regardless of what the state board of accounts says.

The question has been brought to the attention of the city council and plans at one time were being made to abide by the law, which goes in effect on September 1. Some cities will disregard the order and take out the insurance, but it is likely that the order will be followed here.

It is pointed out that the city is not so over-burdened with funds that it can afford to take out the insurance when there is really no necessity. The cost to the city would be about $1,000, it is estimated, and this amount would be spent uselessly. There is no record here to show that the city has ever paid any money to employees while off duty due to injuries and the compensation law insurance would be of no benefit. Mayor Bebout is of the opinion that the council will follow the ruling of the state board of accounts.

FRANK IS BETTER TODAY

Asks Mercy For William Creen, Who Attacked Him

(By United Press.)

Milledgeville, Ga., July 20.—Leo M. Frank's condition was better today. Doctors said he had an excellent chance of recovery. His spirits were higher and he again asked consideration treatment by the prison farm officials of William Creen who tried to kill him.

Infection set in seriously this afternoon in Frank's wound. His temperature jumped from 100 to 101.4. The doctors still said they were hopeful.

Dr. Lowell M. Green and family and Guy Abercrombie and family have taken the Green cottage on Flatrock for two weeks.

WILL DISCUSS AUTO PARKING

Rushville Business Men and Others Plan to go Before the City Council Tonight.

AN EVIL TO BE CORRECTED

Generally Recognized That Something Must be Done Because of Prevalence of Automobiles.

It is expected that a number of business men and others will go before the city council tonight to discuss with the councilmen the advisability of an automobile parking ordinance to correct the evil which has grown up suddenly due to the general prevalence of automobiles in the county.

The parking of automobiles in the principal business streets, especially on days when there are many people in Rushville, has long been recognized as an evil, but no steps have ever been taken to better conditions. Various suggestions have been offered but none of them put in effect.

The greatest complaint has come from those who do not own automobiles although there has not been reported any general kick from motorists on the contemplated enforcement of suggested rules regarding the parking of automobiles. The most objections have been heard from farmers who do not own automobiles and who find it impossible to drive up in front of stores on Saturdays or other big days to get their purchases.

The habit is worse on Saturday afternoons and nights and apparently it is growing all the time. It is believed by many that Rushville people are just as great offenders as country people, especially on Saturday nights, for they drive down to the business section of the city and sit in their machines all evening. As a general rule, there is hardly room for two vehicles to pass in Main street on Saturday evening because of the automobiles on both sides of the street.

Farmers who still travel in horse-drawn vehicles complain that they were never allowed to hitch their horses on the streets and that there is no reason why automobiles should be allowed to stand in the streets and impede traffic.

One of the suggestions offered is that the curb around the court house be a parking place; that stalls be marked off for automobiles and that drivers be asked to back their machines into a painted division on the streets where they expect to leave their machine for any length of time.

Not only in Indianapolis, but in smaller cities, many of them in the class with Rushville, has the evil of automobiles standing on the principal streets been recognized and suitable ordinance passed to stop the practice. Notable among this number are Columbus and Seymour, the city councils in which places have only recently passed stringent traffic laws, including automobile parking, and have special traffic policemen. At Columbus, a pedestrian can not even "cut across" a corner. White lines are painted for the pedestrians to follow in crossing the principal streets down town.

Some time ago it was announced that the city expected to mark off a restricted area around fire plugs to prevent automobiles from parking within from ten to twenty feet of the plugs on either side and it is expected this will be done soon. The theory is advanced that in case of a fire at some time when the main streets were congested with automobiles, the fire company would be impeded.

WILSON CONFERS WITH MINISTRY

Gravity of Situation is Apparent After Discussion Over America's Reply to Berlin Note.

Orduna Incident Will Also be Investigated by United States—Letter Starts Inquiry.

BULLETIN.

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 20.—At a conference this afternoon between President Wilson and Senator Bankhead, the president gave further indication of intending to send a blanket protest to Great Britain against its interference with American commerce to neutral countries in addition to the protest filed in many individual cases. Bankhead said he was convinced the president was doing everything possible to secure concessions from Great Britain which would permit free commerce particularly in cotton.

BL CHARLES P. STEWART.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, July 20.—In a cabinet council regarded as one of the most momentous since the civil war, President Wilson and his advisors today practically determined America's future attitude towards Germany.

For two hours and ten minutes the president and his ministry went over and over the note drafted by Secretary Lansing. It is an answer to Berlin's rejection of America's demand for humanitarian modification of Germany's submarine warfare.

The gravity of the conference was evident. The serious expression worn by all left no doubt on this point.

Cabinet members after the conference refused point blank to discuss the matter before the meeting beyond confirming the fact that a note is actually in preparation. Secretary Lansing likewise refused to talk on the subject.

It was stated that Mexican affairs were also considered.

Before the meeting the president and Secretary Lansing had an hour's private talk at the white house looking over the rough draft of the note.

The reported submarine attack on the Orduna with American passengers on board also was injected into the situation. Secretary Lansing announced a federal investigation of the incident had been ordered.

It was understood that the views of the president and Lansing were indorsed unanimously by the cabinet. The expectation was that Lansing would draft the formal, final note in accordance with the suggestions made today and submit it for a concluding cabinet examination next Friday, and that it would be dispatched early next week.

The state department began an investigation today of the Orduna incident. It asked the treasury department to obtain through customs officials affidavits by Canarder's crew and passengers and such other information as is available concerning reported submarine attack on the vessel.

This followed the receipt of a letter from W. O. Thompson, of Chicago, an Orduna passenger. Thompson did not claim to have personal knowledge of the torpedo attack but said he was awakened in his state room by the firing of shots presumably from the submarine's deck guns.

Secretary Lansing said his department was still without information.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, it incurred its incurable character. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. BIG GAME IN CALIFORNIA

Bakersfield, Cal., July 20.—Lassoing lions, a sport hitherto confined to the African jungles, bids fair to become an evening pastime for California ranchers, owing to the apparently increased numbers of mountain lions and their extraordinary boldness. For many years the beasts had been believed almost extinct. They seldom ventured near civilization. But recently two besieged several Los Angeles women in a cabin all night not far from Pasadena.

After that one made two appearances near here, once chasing a woman who escaped on horseback, and again leaping on the hood of an automobile. Ranchers in the vicinity of Tehachapi assembled a pack of hounds and hunted down another feline marauder after it had killed 100 hogs in a single night. Now the farmers are talking seriously about trying their hands with the lasso.

PESSIMISTIC OVER MEXICO

Administration Officials Not Encouraged by Reports About Evacuation of Capital.

VILLA STRENGTH INCREASES

(By United Press.)

Washington, July 20.—Deep pessimism concerning the Mexican outlook prevailed in official circles here today.

The sudden Carranzista evacuation of Mexico City and rejuvenation of General Villa's northern campaign were considered most discouraging developments.

Reports of the Carranzista capture of Naco were offset by the accounts of the Villista occupation of Queretaro.

News was meagre, but there seemed no question that Villa might develop fresh strength.

Tomorrow night the third installment of “The Goddess” will be shown. Earl Williams and Aneta Stewart are featured.

While the thrilling aerial and arenic acts, as well as sensational equestrianism and hippodrome track events, are absolutely essential to all big tented shows, their performance would fall flat were it not for the clowns. Primarily the majority of show-going enthusiasts, not to mention the small boys and girls, visit the canvas cities to be amused, and the salaried jesters must see to it that none are disappointed. Realizing that a goodly share of the success of the entertainment depends upon the funsters, the Robison Famous Shows, which give afternoon and evening performances here Saturday, August 7, in West Third street, engaged for this season an unparalleled quota of world-famous clowns as money can hire.

There is a veritable army of those jolly fellows, whose sole work is to provide wholesome laughs and amusement for all classes and all ages. From the time the main tent doors are open, which is an hour before the first act enters the rings, until the end of the program, the great hippodrome track swarm with harlequins, and mirth reigns fast and furious.

The Katzenjammer Kids, Buster Brown, Simple Simon, and the Billiken, those, together with all the other comic supplement characters, are there, as well as more than a score of others. Also a whole army of suffragettes. If you do not wish to enjoy hale and hearty jollity, it will be advisable to remain away from the Robison Famous Shows. On the other hand, if you are suffering from an attack of the blues, a certain and permanent cure is assured if you attend the performance.

Sentiment is Changing

There was a series of distinct surprises in the public reception of Germany's reply to the President's note. Brushing aside the jingo idea that "We must get what we demanded because we demanded it," and ignoring the fulminations of leading metropolitan newspapers, the men in the street saw in the counter-proposals of the Imperial Government fair provision for the safety of American travelers and accepted this as granting the substance, is not the form, of the American demands.

This off their minds, the public began to question, as the New York "American" put it, "Whether the Government had any right to demand that Germany cease to attack British commerce except under regulations laid down by the American Government." When the issue seemed to be Humanity vs. International Law, the public was keen for Humanity, and was even willing to back the President in the experiment of attempting to make international law to fit the case, but the dictates of humanity having now been met by the Germans, the sentiment in the street has become more tolerant of submarine warfare, as something that no longer threatens American lives, except so far as Americans wilfully put themselves in peril.

With the simmering down of this issue, there came a crystallizing of the sentiment that "America should demand all its neutral right from all combatants, and nothing but its neutral rights from any combatant."

So the topic now is not so much the Lusitania as the interference with American commerce under the British Orders in Council. America's protest was flouted by the "long range blockade," which is no blockade at all, and neutral commerce is held up on the high seas in violation of international law and to the enormous loss of America.

There is a rapidly rising tide of resentment against this violation of the freedom of the seas, for which America fought in 1812, and there is steadily increasing demand that this Government deal as firmly with Great Britain as with Germany, defending all our just right, requiring that our commerce be respected as well as the lives of our people.

Of course this feeling is most keen right now, but it is a feeling that is radiating out along the national highways of trade to produce cities and towns whose goods are rotting unpaid-for in British ports.

So there was immediate popular response this week to the demand that the Congress be called together for the remedy lies in that body. The weapon to compel all belligerents to respect all American rights is not diplomatic correspondence, but the menace of an embargo.

The idea that America is making all sorts of money out of the war has been exploded. True enough, the balance of trade in favor of America is unprecedented, but the total foreign trade for the eleven months ended June 1 was only $4,016,067,000, a gain of only $72,174,000 over the corresponding period in the preceding year and of only $32,126,000 over the year before that.

A "matrimonial pessimist" is a woman who discourses learnedly and disparagingly on the marriage relation and yet has never been able to hook a husband.

Say, let's make Tom Edison a general and an admiral and turn him loose on those darned chumps over in Europe.

There's many a man of presidential timber in this country—and they know it.

Some men like to appear in a class by themselves. And they are.

The man who can control himself seldom has any others to control.

Fortunately there is no fighting in heaven, but it is along way off.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Free Trade Hits Kokomo

(Indianapolis Star)

The proprietors of the factories in Kokomo making opalescent glass have asked for a reduction of their tax assessments for last year because of the effect of the Underwood tariff law has had on business. The new tariff law admits duty free opalescent glass to be used in churches and public buildings. Most of the opalescent glass sold in this country goes into such buildings and the result is that the Kokomo factories are being shut out of trade by the operation of the law—and Kokomo has the distinction of making more opalescent glass than all other communities in the United States combined.

The experience of the Kokomo glassmakers well illustrates the effect on industry of applying the democratic free trade principle. The theory on which their product was placed on the free list was that the people—the builders of the churches and public buildings—should be enabled to get glass at the lowest price obtainable anywhere. The result is that those purchasers are sending to Europe instead of to Kokomo. They may be saving a few dollars; meanwhile the industry in this country is languishing.

Even the ultimate consumers who are benefited by such a shift in business may be pardoned for feeling that it is un-American. And most of them will not be averse to paying a little more for what they get so long as that is enabling us to build up new industries and to give employment to men who live according to our standard of living. There are many important activities in which we can compete with the world on an even basis but opalescent glass does not seem to be one of them. And so long as it is not, we must either safeguard it against ruinous competition or expect to see it dwindle.

Current Comments

Vetoes Law Tariff Law.

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

The war in Europe has vetoed the low tariff law. It has likewise flooded the country with war orders, putting many mills on full time. The result is a remarkable proof of the value of protection as a stimulator of prosperity. Business was stagnant while the Underwood tariff operated under normal conditions. The moment these conditions were changed and the war became a substitute for protection the return to prosperity began. The movement has been hastened by orders for war material, of course, but this has not been the decisive factor.

Mr. Wilson may see, therefore, a prosperity induced by the nullification of is economic measures; a prosperity brought about in spite of his policies, not on account of them. Nevertheless, he is certain to profit from the conditions. Voters do not ask whys and wherefores. They are satisfied when they are prosperous, and dissatisfied when they are not prosperous. The war has introduced into political situation a new factor favorable to the Democrats.

It is imperative, therefore, that the Republican party enter the campaign next summer united. It has a hard fight ahead of it at any event. It cannot afford to be reactionary. It must be aggressive, as it was in Lincoln's day. It must wage a campaign of education. Otherwise the electorate may be deluded into believing that prosperity occasioned by temporary conditions is permanent. Our great industries must not be dependent on the policies of other nations, but on the economic program adhered to by the United States.

WAR NEWS FEATURE

Nisch, Serbia, May 3. (By Mail to New York)—Completely reorganized and equipped, Serbia's little army of 300,000 men that has twice already defeated the Austrians is today holding itself in readiness for an invasion of Hungary.

Despite the heavy losses of the Serbians, both in their previous conflicts with the Austrians, both in their previous conflicts with the Austrians and in the epidemic which is still sweeping the country, their army is now in perhaps better condition than ever before, thanks largely to the financial help of the Allies. The losses in the Serbians ranks have been largely filled by new troops that have been whipped into shape in the provinces of Macedonia which Serbia acquired during the recent Balkan wars? The fighting strength is still up to 300,000 men, the number with which Serbia began the present war.

Without question, however, the most important transformation in the Serbian army is that in its military operations, the Serbian army has been obliged to depend almost exclusively for transportation on ox carts.

The Wilderness Trace.

Blazing a trail through the wilderness was an important work of pioneer days. The "traces" as the blazed trails were known were marked by two men who went ahead, blazing the road, while main force followed, cutting a path of sufficient width to admit the passage of a team. The work, leading through the woods and swamps, was difficult, and sometimes harassed by prowling savages was dangerous. On one occasion on a dark rainy night, the sentinel of the camp of road makers found they were beset by lurking Indians. Quietly arousing his sleeping companions, all left the camp, making their way to safety through the darkness by feeling of the notches and blazes cut in the trees, as trained woodsmen only could have done.

PRINCE ALBERT

is such good tobacco you feel like you could just eat the smoke!

The toppy red bag, 5c

Yes, sir, P. A. puts a razor edge on your smoke-appetite-division that's nobby enough to be photographed! No other pipe and cigarette tobacco can be like Prince Albert, because no other tobacco can be made like Prince Albert. The patented process fixes that—and removes the tongue-bite and throat parch! Let that digest!

And that line of conversation is 24 kt., whether you play P. A. in your old jimmy pipe or roll it into a makin's cigarette.

For you can put your little old blue-pencil O. K. right here that Prince Albert is a regular double-header for a single admission—as joy'us to your tongue and taste one way as the other!

Will the "rollers" kindly step forward for a spell and get some of this listen into their systems? Because Prince Albert certain and sure jams more joy into a makin's paper than ever before was figured up on two hands!

In the plain language of the hills, you can't any more resist such makin's tobacco than a bullfrog can pass up a piece of red flannel! Because P. A. hands to you everything any cigarette roller ever dreamed-out—rare flavor, and aroma, and mildness, and body; absolutely the best bet—the best smoke you or any other man ever did roll and put the fire to! Men, we tell you to wise up.

P. A. is crimp cut and stays put—which means rolling P. A. is as easy as falling off a log. And it's good to remember P. A. is put up in the toppy red bag especially for you "rollers." Sells for the price of a jitney ride, 5c.

Now, will the "pipers" kindly open both ears? Here's tobacco that has made it possible for three men to smoke pipes where one smoked before!

Any way you hook it up, Prince Albert is tobacco insurance! Yes, sir, it guarantees your future as well as your present smokings! And just makes your tongue so jimmy pipe joy'us that your smoke appetite grows whopping big. You men who "dassn't," we say you go to P. A., natural-like! Because there isn't a bite in a barrel of this national joy smoke.

Unlimber your old jimmy pipe! Dig it out of the dark corner, jam it brimful of P. A. And make fire with a match! Me-o-my!

You get acquainted with Prince Albert in the toppy red bag, 5c; or tidy red tin, 10c, but for the double-back-action-joy, you buy a crystal-glass pound humidor. And then you're set! You see, it has the sponge-moistener top and keeps P. A. at the highest top-notch point of perfection. Prince Albert is also sold in pound and half-pound tin humidors.

DOING HEROIC WORK IN ITALY

Wife of American Ambassador to Rome Supervising Some of Most Effective Red Cross Efforts

IS WARM FRIEND OF QUEEN

Places Herself at Disposal of "First Lady of Italy" And Makes Shirts For Soldiers.

BY ALICE ROHE
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, June 16. (By Mail to New York)—Some of the most effective relief work of Italy's war it being conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, wife of the American Ambassador to the court at Rome. In a splendid suite of the Palazzo del Drago, the Ambassadorial residence, Mrs. Page has established a temporary work shop. Tables for cutting and sewing have replaced the costly furniture and here busy members of the American colony meet to plan and work for the soldiers at the front.

Mrs. Page, realizing the need of assistance, placed herself at the disposal of Queen Helena soon after Italy entered the conflict. The American ambassador and the Italian queen are warm personal friends. The Queen replied that she would be most grateful for the American women's help and that she needed two hundred shirts at once for use in her hospital on the first floor of the Quirinal.

Calling her friends of the American colony together, Mrs. Page immediately put her working rooms into a state of activity. Part of the work is given to the wives of men who have answered their country's call to the colors. The American Ambassador's wife in this way is contributing to the support of these needy families.

And Mrs. Page with typical American generosity, pays more than the regulation price for the making of shirts.

Among Mrs. Page's assistants who are most active are Mrs. Dunn, wife of the Military attache, Mrs. Train, wife of the Naval attache, Mrs. Jay wife of the first secretary of the American Embassy and Mrs. Webb, wife of Dr. Webb.

The work of these American women in Rome is conducted without any heralding or confusion. There is never any question of funds for Mrs. Page has arranged everything herself, upon a most liberal basis. Queen Helena has expressed her deepest gratitude for the interest and activity manifested so promptly by the American Ambassador and her members of the American colony.

Mrs. Page is perhaps the most popular lady in Rome's diplomatic society. Diplomatic circles never tire of relating the quickness at her repartee. Mrs. Page's ready wit and quiet, decisive replies are famous in diplomatic social gatherings.

Recently at the Villa Ada where Mrs. Page was visiting Queen Helena the latter, first and foremost the devoted mother, spoke fondly of the young Prince Hubert. "You must see my boy," she said to Ambassador Page's wife. "Oh, yes, he is a handsome boy; he is a good boy, but that is not all. A soul looks forth from my son's eyes. I want you to see him and tell me if you do not see a beautiful soul looking back at you from his eyes."

When the youthful prince of Piedmont stood before the American Ambassador the latter looked at the manly little fellow before and said quietly, "He has his mother's eyes."

Before the departure of the Prince and Princess von Bulow from Rome at a diplomatic dinner the wife of the German Ambassador kept insisting upon recounting a list of the stories concerning the French and English atrocities against German soldiers.

It was while the ladies were waiting for the diplomats to have their final words over the cigars. Mrs. Page endured with well bred silence, as long as possible, the continued and nerve racking narration of atrocities. Then, unable to restrain herself further, she turned to the German princess and said in softly modulated tones; "Yes? They say the same of others."

TWO HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

Two Shirley Men Injured When They Run Into a Ditch.

Charlottesville, Ind., July 20.—J. W. True, a blacksmith, and William Presnell, a liveryman, both of Shirley, were injured near here Sunday when their automobile was driven into a ditch, turning over. True suffered a broken collar bone and other injuries, while Presnell was cut by broken glass. Six other occupants of the car were uninjured.

BARN AND CONTENTS LOST

Lightning Hits Structure at Knightstown, Shocking Owner.

Knightstown, Ind., July 20.—Elmer Cox, of this city, lost his large barn and contents by lightning Sunday evening and also had a narrow escape from death.

Mr. Cox was milking a cow when the barn was struck and he and the cow were both knocked down and stunned for a short time. Mr. Cox suffered no serious injury, however. The barn and contents were insured.

WHALEN FINED.

Robert Whalen, who was arrested Sunday on a charge of public intoxication and entered a plea of not guilty, decided that he did not have sufficient evidence to fight the charge and changed his plea to guilty. Mayor Bebout fined him five and costs, amounting to $15. Whalen was warned that the next time would get a trip to the penal farm.

DEATH RATE FOR OVER 40 HIGHER

Those About That Age do Not Have Chance to Live Grandfather Had His Day.

SO SPEAKS THE STATE BOARD

Increasing Tendency Toward Sedentary Occupations is Working Toward Degeneracy.

A statement in a recently issued bulletin of the state board of health, says, "if you are past 40 years of age, you do not have the chance to live that your father and especially your grandfather had in their day." Have you a hobby that takes you out of doors, the bulletin advises for in spite of all our modern skill in medicine and surgery, the death rate of people who have passed the age of 40 is slowly and persistently going up.

The sciences of prevention, sanitation and medicine are doing wonders toward lowering the death rate among those under the age of 40 but the increasing tendency toward sedentary occupations is working toward degeneracy in the vital organs of those who have passed the age of 40.

Muscles are weakening because of the lack of use; arteries are hardening because of the high blood pressure; nerves are wearing out because of over stimulation and excitement; and heart, kidney and other diseases are increasing in activity. In other words people are either wearing themselves out by over-exertion along the lines of mentality or else they are decaying by reason of lack of exercise.

Therefore, advise the board of health, take exercise. Take daily exercise. Walk to your business, to your dressmaker, walk for the sake of walking. Join a walking club and keep a score of miles. Or if you won't walk then keep chickens, make garden, wheel the baby, play golf or any other game, but do take two hours' outdoor exercise every day.

This does not mean, the board goes on to state that you are to become an athlete. Athletes often die young because they over-exert. It does not become necessary to try to become a "strong man." Be a moderate, persistent and daily exponent of exercise.

The bulletin also urges that strong measures be taken to secure the observance of the law regarding the registration of births. It is a fact, although not well known, that a physician is not entitled to any fee if he does not properly file the birth registration certificate within 36 hours after the birth of a child.

Numerous incidents may be recalled by almost any one concerning the settlement of estates, delicate points in law and other cases where individuals have suffered because of the lack of proper identification in regard to parentage, age, and the like, an incident of this sort is given by the bulletin as follows:

W. L. Van Campen is a sailor on the U. S. war vessel North Dakota. Mr. Van Campen writes the state board of health for a transcript of his birth record. He says: "I do not know positively that I was born in Indiana, but I have heard my parents say that that state is the place of my birth. I have enlisted in the United States navy for the second time, I have done four years. In order that I may receive the pay and extras for being a citizen of the United States I have got to have a copy of my certificate of birth. I must prove my citizenship and prove that I was born in the United States."

This is interesting evidence of the importance of recording births. If it is found that Mr. Van Campen's birth was not registered in Indiana he will be a loser in that he will not be able to prove his citizenship and receive the pay and allowances that are made for citizens.

SWISS METHOD HIGHLY PRAISED

American in Switzerland Tells How Little Republican Goes About Preparing Its Boys.

FOR SERVICE IN THE ARMY

They May Begin Early in Life and Get Training in Small Doses or Wait Until They Are 21.

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Chiasse, Switzerland, June 3. (By Mail to New York)—Luigi Corti owns the biggest store in this town. He's an American citizen; he fought in the Spanish-American war in the Philippines; he lived fourteen years at Marshall, Texas. He knows about the Swiss army, as well as the American army and I'm going to put down a little talk that I heard Luigi giving a discouraged Englishman, who was complaining that Englishmen weren't enlisting. He may furnish an idea about how to raise a good army in the United States some day.

"Englishmen don't enlist," said Luigi. "No wonder. They haven't got any interest in their army, because their army never held any interest in them. Do you know how we raise our army in Switzerland?"

The discouraged Englishman didn't.

"I'm going to tell you about a boy that works for me. Every other Swiss boy has the same experience that he has. A Swiss boy has got two plans to choose from; he can either wait until he's twenty years old and take his training in large doses or he can begin when he's fifteen and spread it out. Pietro, my boy wanted to spread it out. So, every Sunday morning, from six o'clock in the morning until 11, he's at the barracks, being trained with lots of other boys. Six months every year we must do this, until he's twenty. He's given a rifle, a uniform and all the fittings of a soldier and he's taught to shoot and do all the other things that a soldier is expected to do. He takes all his outfit home with him and keeps it there. At a moment's notice he may be called out to show how well he is caring for his kit. He is trained in gymnastics and in athletics and he learns all the rules of warfare. By the time he's twenty years old he's got an interest in his country and in its army."

"Talk about sharpshooters in Texas," said Luigi, turning to me. "I love Texas, but these Swiss boys can outshoot any Texan I ever saw. Every village has got its rifle ground? The ammunition is free. The government gives medals. Every now and then there is a big shoot in some big town. The interest in shooting is so great that the hotels in this town will be filled to overflowing. People will come from all parts of the country. Newspapers will get out extra editions about the scores."

"Well, as soon as a boy is twenty years old, he is called to serve 65 days, every year, in some barracks or some camp. This goes on every year until he is thirty, though, if he began the Sunday drilling before he was twenty, he gets considerable time off, every year, after his first two annual encampments. Between thirty and forty he serves fifteen days a year."

"Is it true?" Luigi asked the Englishman, "that when a man in our country enlists he's likely to lose his job?"

"Why yes," said the Englishman. "Good Lord, no wonder they don't enlist?" said Luigi. "Why, in our country business men have to keep the jobs open for their men and boys who are called away. They're half a million men in the Swiss army on duty at the frontiers now but every one knows that his job is waiting for him when he comes back."

"How do you mobilize in your country?"

"Just send word around to the homes that the men are wanted at a certain place at a certain time. Each man gets out his uniform, his rifle, his ammunition and his emergency rations and goes to the meeting place. That's all there is to it."

"How do you raise officers in your Swiss army?"

"Any young man who wants to be an officer, can do so, if he's intelligent and is willing to put extra time on the job. The beauty of being an officer is that the government gives him a good position in peace times on the government railroads or in the postoffice."

"It's too late for England," said the discouraged Englishman. Przemysl had just fallen again, like Juarez, Mexico, used to fall in Madero's time, and the Briton said frankly that things looked dark.

"Well, it isn't too late for the United States," said Luigi. "It's a system that makes fine men."

The strongest, finest, sturdiest soldiers I have seen in Europe are these same Swiss. They're not bloodthirsty professional soldiers created by militarism; they're merely good, strong Swiss citizens, trained to defend their country if the need arises.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when Backache or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used by generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

MAY GET THEIR "WAR TAX" BACK

Trust Companies Stand to "Recover" Because Carelessness of Law Makers.

ARE PREPARING TO LITIGATE

Oversight Lies in the Fact That They Failed to Define Properly The Word Bankers.

Washington, July 20.—Every dollar of the hundreds and thousands paid by trust companies to the government under the provisions of the "war tax" law may have to be returned because of Democratic carelessness.

Practically every trust company in the United States which has paid, under protest, the tax provided by paragraph 1 of section 3 of the "war tax" is preparing to litigate the right of the government to collect. Test cases have already been brought in various federal courts. The foundation for these suits was laid by the Democrats through an apparent oversight in drafting the law.

The oversight lay in the failure to define properly "bankers." The blunder is emphasized by the fact that but a few months before the "war tax" was levied, the Democratic Congress had appropriated thousands of dollars to pay back to trust companies a refund ordered by federal courts following litigation on the same question.

Section 3 of the "war tax" declares that bankers "shall pay $1 for every $1000 of capital used or employed." It then defines who shall be termed a "banker" under the act. The definition of a "banker" is identical with that which the federal courts but a short time before held adequate to render trust companies liable to such a tax.

The Democrats had ample warning. The language of the federal court's decision conclusively showed that "bankers" must be more adequately defined to include trust companies.

"In the case at bar," said the decision, "the plaintiff is not a bank or banker, and though it does some of the things enumerated in the section as indicative of such business, its principal business seems to be distinctively that of a trust company."

The court further points out that the resources on which the tax was collected and ordered returned were "invested in municipal and railroad bonds and in the stocks of corporations." The Internal Revenue Office has required trust companies to pay the tax upon the class of securities, and in the cases now pending claim for recovery is based on the allegation that the securities taxed are invested "in municipal and railway bonds and in the stocks of corporations."

Whether or not the trust companies are successful in their proceedings, the fact remains that Democratic blundering is responsible for this expensive litigation, which adds tremendously to the cost of administering the law and may largely reduce revenues.

Like numerous other "jokers" in Democratic laws, these mischievous errors exist only because of wholesale disregard of elementary principles of legislation.

"ZONE" IS JOY SPOT OF EX"PO"

"Zoning" Still New to San Francisco and is Ever New to Endless Stream of Americans.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PLACE

Miniature "Old Faithful" Spouts in Model Yellowstone Park Which is Set up.

BY FRED S. FERGUSON.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

San Francisco, July 20.—To the last dregs! To the last bitter protest of tired feet and fagged bodies; until dancers drop into chairs exhausted and worn; until barker's throats are dry and their voices cracked from hours of shouting and cajoling; until one by one the myriad lights fade out, and standing gaunt against the sky appear only the skeleton outlines of a fairy city. So San Francisco and its thousands of visitors take their pleasure upon the "Zone," the joy spot of the Panama Pacific Exposition.

It is far into the night. Over the noisy babble of voices come the notes of a bugle. They ride upon a breeze heavy with the odor of Japanese rice cake, pop corn and handy out-door kitchens. Upon a balcony, high above the joy-seeking throng a young woman in a much be-braided suit of semi-military cut supplies the lung power for the bugle, summoning all who still have a dance left in their system or are looking for a "reviver" to carry them through another hour. It is a German place, is the "fortyfying" position, but world's fair crowds are strictly neutral. A giant guard-man in doublet and hose stands forbiddingly before the door. The long spear upon which he leans, however, is for other purposes than guarding the sacred portals. He is more likely to give you a friendly jab with the working end of the spear to assist you in, if there is any hesitancy.

Across the way the barker for an Irish village bids for patronage against the Teuton fortress. The glories of a nearby alligator farm are mixed with your anticipation of Irish joy, and, towering above you, but a step away is a giant "Mother Eve" of the inevitable Exposition attraction "Creation."

"Zoning" is still new to San Francisco, and is ever new to the endless stream of Americans, possibly for the first time in their lives determined to "see America first."

There is the soft perfume of flowers, the quiet music of numerous fountains, the soft glow of invisible lights, the flutter of the wings of doves. You pass down the long line of palms, heavy with clinging vines and flowers. You quicken your step to keep time with a band playing just across the way.

But now there is a new sound. You are still within ear-shot of the band, but no longer hear it. There is a bang and crash. You are at the head of the Zone. A metallic sounding mechanical orchestra bangs out the latest song hit. It is the first thing on the Zone and something which every American knows—a Merry-go-Round. Stretching ahead is a mile of lights, laughing people, noise and action.

Behind you are the works and ideals of America. Before you is America at play.

From this American merry-go-round you may eat, drink and dance your way through the Panama Canal zone, over the ice of the South Pole with Capt. Scott; see educated horses, diving girls, or the crazy lopsided village of Toyland with its "toy" soldiers towering sixty feet high. There are villages of Australasia and Samoa, and, hopping back to our own continent, of Mexico. A step and you are in Japan with fat wrestlers, monkey shows and innumerable fakirs demanding attention.

While a miniature "Old Faithful" spouts in a miniature Yellowstone Park, there floats up to the broad veranda of the Inn the "oo-la-la" music of the Turkish dancers. There is to be found—in the Orient, not the Inn—Holy Moses, the camel hero of numerous Expositions, the gun spinners and the inevitable line of "Princesses" whose kind was originally made famous by the first "Streets of Cairo."

"Old Faithful" is the end of the Zone. But there is the opportunity for more to eat, drink and a dance before starting to work your way back. One by one concessions close, lights flicker and go out. A fresh, cold breeze comes off the bay. Fog begins to lower, chasing the heavy rice cake fumes. Tired dancers, diving girls and barker's step from different shows and join the diminishing crowds. There is nothing more to see, but still the pleasure seekers linger along the deserted thoroughfare. Let's all go home.

But listen! The bugle! The girl in the braided suit, the giant guard-man, music, the dance. And so, to the last dregs!

MOTHERS' PENSION LAWS DISCUSSED

National Convention is Opened With Representatives Present From Twenty-Five States

ELKS WILL LIKELY ATTEND

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, July 20.—Delegates from twenty-five states of the Union which four years ago knew nothing of the pensioning of mothers for the abolishment of child-poverty, are today meeting in the first annual session of the National Mothers' Convention at the Civil Auditorium. The subject of pensions from all angles and particularly the practice and theory of the present laws will be discussed.

Ways and means will be devised to have the mothers' pension system taken over by the public school systems of various states. Today a majority of the states pay mother's pensions through the juvenile courts but this gives too much of a flavor of criminality to the movement. More than 60,000 Elks, standing for the principles of mothers' pensions, have been invited to attend the convention. It is estimated during the ensuing year more than $10,000,000 will be paid to mothers for taking care of their own children, where the main support of the family has either died or failed to discharge his duty.

WILL DRESS UP

(By United Press.)

La Porte, Ind., July 20.—This city's civilian soldiers, Company B of the Third Regiment of the Indiana National Guard, are to appear in true military style at drill tonight. The company recently received nearly a carload of equipment consisting of uniforms, arms, and trench implements. The new uniforms will be used for the first time tonight.

DENTISTS HOPE TO HAVE FUND

Plan an Endowment For The Carrying on of Research Work Regarding Diseases From Teeth

LARGE AMOUNT IS SECURED

Will be Carried on in Various Parts of Country—One Million is Mark Set

(By United Press.)

Cleveland, O., July 20.—Important discoveries leading to methods for combating diseases resulting from bad teeth are expected to follow the establishment here of the Research Institute of the National Dental Association. To carry forward this work an endowment fund of $1,000,000 will be raised; $54,000 has already been secured, mainly from dentists.

The purpose of the Institute, according to incorporation papers recently filed, is the "finding and establishing of means for relief of mankind from the indirect and direct ravages of dental and oral diseases; to support, establish and encourage investigation, research and discovery of knowledge and the dissemination thereof to the improvement of mankind."

It is the plan of the Association to assist financially researches that are being contemplated or carried on in various parts of the country by those who have become especially proficient in certain lines and are confronted by problems they are trying to solve. Research work will also be done in Cleveland.

Valuable contributions from the investigators on the following topics are expected. The relation of mouth infection to diseases of various parts of the body; the relation of saliva to conditions of decay of teeth, the causative factors of pyorrhea; and better combinations of metals for filling cavities.

IOWA LEADS IN AIDING CRIPPLES

State Officers Aid to Those Not Able to Pay And Many Are Taking Advantage of Law

NO TIME LIMIT TO TREATMENT

Des Moines, Ia., July 20.—Iowa is leading the world in the humanitarian movement to save the crippled and deformed. The new Perkins law directs that every child under 16 who suffers from deformities or malady that may be cured and whose parents are not able to provide the necessary medical and surgical attention, will be guests of the state at the state university hospital, Iowa City, under care of specialists, the state paying transportation, medical attention and nursing bills.

There is no time limit on the treatment. Parents of such children make applications for treatment to the district court. The court names a physician to make examination and on this report orders the child to Iowa City. It is expected thousands of deformed poor children will be made strong under the provisions of this law.

Skirts Made of Tickinig Are The Rage In World of Fashion

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

There are clocks upon her stockings Her skirt is ticking too Indeed a much more timely maid. 'Twere hart to find for you.

New York, July 20.—Stop, look and listen! Have you heard the new skirt—its ticking. It's also quite loud. It's fast too—fast colors. Mostly colored in blue and white stripes like the Ostermoors are made of. There are other color combinations in all the new shades combined with white that prove even more effective skirting the summer girls than covering the husks and breakfast food of a summer mattress.

Worn with the sheer white organ-die blouses of those blouses trimmed with pastel tinted batiste or linen these ticking skirts are particularly good. They are usually made with the quaint and yet practical applied side pockets of the present mode and are ideal for the country, the shore or any sport as well as being equally appropriate and smart for morning town and street wear. With cretonne and ticking both being so extensively worn the old adage "Make your bed and lie in it" must need now be changed to "unmake your bed and dress in it." The gist of the matter in a few words is if you have to first get it on tick.

It seems as if Dame Fashion were kidding us. In our weakest spot, too—the head. If you have noticed the very newest of the new tiny turbans you already know its a kid without my telling you. Dainty little all white kid affairs are the very smartest kind with a close second in a magpie black and white kid combination. Others there are developed in kid of any delicate pastel shade but it is the all white kid hat that has the sanction of most fastidious approval.

Before we pass the hat entirely it is well to mention the broad brimmed chateau so prevalent for the nonce that is made of an open work straw mesh not unlike a basket but nearer a replica of the common or garden canesat in a kitchen chair. They come in all colors and their brims are bound in a contrasting tint of ribbon. They are simply trimmed in a posy or so or a mere band of the same binding ribbon around the crown.

Mrs. Vernon Castle has the responsibility for this faddy confection at her door along with so many other charmingly quaint sartorial indiscretions. It is true that the summer girl affecting this cane seated hat is apt to be spotted both by the son of man and the sun of heaven. But after all what could be more delightfully appropriate than that the seat of a maid's intelligence be cane seated as 'twere.

At last the glove-like Italian silk so long confined merely to the shaping of under garments has burst its lingerie bounds and stepped into the outer garment class. It is now being used not only for lovely long sweater like sport coats and Norfolk jacket effects in all brightest hues but stunning blouses are now fashioned of it in lovely tones of Old blue, gold and rose. Not to mention many chaste bodies of pure white and a few in the same flesh tints that are decidedly reminiscent of it's undergarment uses.

Just why this loosely meshed and woven silk should be dubbed Italian or Milanese silk is indeed a poser since it is unknown quality as well as quality in the land of buried Caesars. With underwear material being so flagrantly pressed into service for outerwear it is obvious that an exclusive new material be evolved for wear next to the skin. Judging from a sample of flesh colored silken garments exposed in a Fifth Avenue lingerie shop I should say that the newest open work lace mesh silk now offered for next to skin wear is also next to nothing.

WILSON CONFERS WITH MINISTRY

tion to substantiate that a torpedo was fired at the Orduna without warning.

Germany will be told substantially in the note now being prepared at the State Department and the White House that she must not use the present situation as a club to hit Great Britain or to force the American Government to settle her controversies with the English Government.

This decision, made today, stands out pre-eminently as the one new definite statement of the attitude on the part of the United States toward Germany. Officials say it will appear in the forth-coming restatement of the case of the United States to Germany on the Lusitania tragedy and all correlated subjects.

President Wilson, who returned here Monday, lost no time in getting the written views of the legal experts of the State Department and memoranda from Secretary of State Lansing concerning the reply.

The President and his new premier discussed the American-German situation for about an hour Monday. The president made no comment on the conference except to indicate it was his desire that there should be no speculation on the forthcoming reply. This much is, nevertheless, known as coming from official sources.

The President and the Secretary of State had no reason again to discuss the physical facts with respect to the Lusitania. The history of that tragedy is complete and unchangeable so far as facts are concerned.

The subjects of discussion between the President and Mr. Lansing, it is asserted, were solely on the legal aspects of the issue between the two countries.

The legal arguments were presented to the President in documents

voluminous enough to fill the portfolio of the Secretary of State, which he took to the White House. In addition to these Mr. Lansing also had the views of the German Ambassador as outlined in the recent conversations between them at the State Department. The subject matter of these conversations or oral arguments by the Ambassador probably will never be made public, but it is admitted by officials that the Ambassador had undoubtedly official warrant for the expression of his views, and therefore they must be considered in the final audit.

FIGHTS SMOKE NUISANCE.

Columbus, O., July 20.—Education, persuasion and finally compulsion are the methods being used by the Columbus smoke inspection department to abate the smoke and soot nuisance. The department is teaching factory managers who permit their smokestacks to fill the air with tons of unconsumed fuel that they are wasting money, that proper appliance and firing will cut down their fuel bill and keep surrounding air pure, and that obstinacy in compliance with suggestions will be met with compulsion.

"TWILIGHT" SLEEP BABY.

Warsaw, Ind., July 20.—This city claims the distinction of being one of the few cities in the state having a "Twilight" sleep baby. He, for it is a boy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Neher, made his advent into this world at the Mary Thompson hospital in Chicago.

ped or else someone might get hurt.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting invited citizens generally to meet with the council Tuesday night August 20 to consider the problem and cards have been sent out notifying tonight is the time.

Richmond is up against the same thing as Rushville. Alfred Bavis, president of the board of works there, in a statement to the newspapers yesterday, advocated an ordinance which would designate the kind of traffic to be used in certain streets and would prohibit the parking of automobiles in Main street.

Mr. Bavis declared the streets particularly dangerous on Saturday nights when only a narrow passageway is left for the movement of traffic. He said a run by the fire department at any time might mean the loss of life to persons on the street. This he pointed out would make the city liable for damages.

As the city council is also wrestling with traffic problem the board suspended discussion without making any recommendations.

Elkhart, Ind., July 20.—There is no war in this city against jitney busses. "KILLS" ENGINE IN TRAIN'S PATH

Paul Cruitt, Driving Automobile Belonging to Gowdy Man, Gets Excited in Tight Place.

TWO GOWDY BOYS WITH HIM
Harry Headlee and George Solomon Only Ones Seriously Hurt—
Accident in Ripley County.

Word reached here today of a serious accident on a railroad crossing in Dabney, Ripley county, in which an automobile belonging to a Gowdy farmer was demolished and two young men from Gowdy had miraculous escapes from death.

Paul Cruitt, of Dabney, was driving a new touring car belonging to Alexander Solomon of Gowdy. He "killed" the engine in the path of a B. & O. S. W. fast train on the crossing in Dabney Sunday and was the only one of the three in the car who escaped without serious injuries.

George Solomon, son of the owner of the car, was most seriously hurt. He sustained a fractured skull and there may be some doubt about his recovery. He was otherwise bruised from the impact.

Harry Headlee, of Gowdy, the third occupant of the car, has a fractured ankle as a result of the accident. It was stated in Gowdy Tuesday that Headlee was thrown higher than the train and that it was supposed he would be killed.

Fortunately the wreckage of the car and the three men in it were thrown clear of the path of the engine else they would have been killed. The automobile was reduced to splinters. It was said that the largest piece of machine intact was one of the wheels.

Mrs. Sallie Solomon, mother of the boy in the accident, Mr. Headlee and George Solomon had driven from Gowdy to Osgood, Ripley county, Sunday to visit relatives. While Mrs. Solomon was visiting, Headlee, the Solomon boy and Cruitt went out for a ride.

It happens that Cruitt is the crossing watchman where the train hit the machine. Cruitt was driving and when they approached the crossing in Dabney, Cruitt pulled out his watch and remarked that it was not time for the train. Headlee and Solomon supposed that he knew what he was talking about since he was the watchman at that crossing and did not question his assertion that there was no train due.

Not being accustomed to driving a car, Cruitt became excited when he saw the train bearing down upon them and in attempting to speed up the car, caused the engine to go dead. The three men had no time to jump.

The Solomon boy is sixteen years of age, and was removed to an Indianapolis hospital Sunday and has not improved sufficiently to be brought home. Indications today were that he would recover.

Hope to Take as Many Machines Wednesday Night as Went to Milroy Chautauqua Monday Night.

THIRTY AUTOS LAST NIGHT

Augmented by a large party of Rushville people, the Milroy chautauqua closed Monday night with the largest attendance of the assembly. Thirty machines filled with people from this city went to Milroy for the chautauqua and were amply repaid for the visit. The Rushville people were given a fine reception. All of the machines did not leave the court house square at the same time, many taking advantage of the opportunity and attending the afternoon session of chautauqua.

Wednesday will be known as Rushville day at the Carthage chautauqua and a large delegation from this city will go there tomorrow night. The same plan will be followed. The machines will leave the court house square at 6:30 o'clock.

CITY MEN NEED NO INSURANCE

Ruling of State Board of Accounts Regarding New Workmen's Compensation Law Received.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS EXEMPT
Not Necessary For Them to Take Out Insurance For Their Employees—Opinion Differ.

All public officials have been advised by the state board of accounts that it is not compulsory on them to take out insurance under the workmen's Compensation law enacted by the last legislature. The letter out by the state board of accounts is as follows:

"It is not compulsory on public officials to take out insurance under the Workmen's Compensation law enacted by the legislature in 1915. This is the decision of the Industrial Board of Indiana in rule XV. All letters, circulars and representations to the contrary should be disregarded by all township trustees, county highway superintendents, county commissioners, city and town school corporations, state institutions, and state boards and officials."

City officials here have been approached by representatives of insurance companies wanting the insurance on city employees. This was especially true of employees at the water and light plant and it was at first thought that the insurance would have to be taken out. Under this ruling there is no reason for insuring these employees although several attorney hold that the city will be compelled to take out the insurance regardless of what the state board of accounts says.

The question has been brought to the attention of the city council and plans at one time were being made to abide by the law, which goes in effect on September 1. Some cities will disregard the order and take out the insurance, but it is likely that the order will be followed here.

It is pointed out that the city is not so over-burdened with funds that it can afford to take out the insurance when there is really no necessity. The cost to the city would be about $1,000, it is estimated, and this amount would be spent uselessly. There is no record here to show that the city has ever paid any money to employees while off duty due to injuries and the compensation law insurance would be of no benefit. Mayor Bebout is of the opinion that the council will follow the ruling of the state board of accounts.

FRANK IS BETTER TODAY

Asks Mercy For William Green, Who Attacked Him

(By United Press.)
Milledgeville, Ga., July 20.—Leo M. Frank's condition was better today. Doctors said he had an excellent chance of recovery. His spirits were higher and he again asked considerate treatment by the prison farm officials of William Green who tried to kill him.

Infection set in seriously this afternoon in Frank's wound. His temperature jumped from 100 to 101.4. The doctors still said they were hopeful.

Dr. Lowell M. Green and family and Guy Abercrombie and family have taken the Green cottage on Flatrock for two weeks.

WILL DISCUSS AUTO PARKING

Rushville Business Men and Others Plan to go Before the City Council Tonight

AN EVIL TO BE CORRECTED
Generally Recognized That Something Must be Done Because of Prevalence of Automobiles.

It is expected that a number of business men and others will go before the city council tonight to discuss with the councilmen the advisability of an automobile parking ordinance to correct the evil which has grown up suddenly due to the general prevalence of automobiles in the county.

The parking of automobiles in the principal business streets, especially on days when there are many people in Rushville, has long been recognized as an evil, but no steps have ever been taken to better conditions. Various suggestions have been offered but none of them put in effect.

The greatest complaint has come from those who do not own automobiles although there has not been reported any general kick from motorists on the contemplated enforcement of suggested rules regarding the parking of automobiles. The most objections have been heard from farmers who do not own automobiles and who find it impossible to drive up in front of stores on Saturdays or other big days to get their purchases.

The habit is worse on Saturday afternoons and nights and apparently it is growing all the time. It is believed by many that Rushville people are just as great offenders as country people, especially on Saturday nights, for they drive down to the business section of the city and sit in their machines all evening. As a general rule, there is hardly room for two vehicles to pass in Main street on Saturday evening because of the automobiles on both sides of the street.

Farmers who still travel in horse-drawn vehicles complain that they were never allowed to hitch their horses on the streets and that there is no reason why automobiles should be allowed to stand in the streets and impede traffic.

One of the suggestions offered is that the curb around the court house be a parking place; that stalls be marked off for automobiles and that drivers be asked to back their machines into a painted division on the streets where they expect to leave their machine for any length of time.

Not only in Indianapolis, but in smaller cities, many of them in the class with Rushville, has the evil of automobiles standing on the principal streets been recognized and suitable ordinance passed to stop the practice. Notable among this number are Columbus and Seymour, the city councils in which places have only recently passed stringent traffic laws, including automobile parking, and have special traffic policemen. At Columbus, a pedestrian can not even "cut across" a corner. White lines are painted for the pedestrians to follow in crossing the principal streets down town.

Some time ago it was announced that the city expected to mark off a restricted area around fire plugs to prevent automobiles from parking within from ten to twenty feet of the plugs on either side and it is expected this will be done soon. The theory is advanced that in case of a fire at some time when the main streets were congested with automobiles, the fire company would be unable to get to the plugs.

WILSON CONFERS WITH MINISTRY

Gravity of Situation is Apparent After Discussion Over America's Reply to Berlin Note.

Orduna Incident Will Also be Investigated by United States—Letter Starts Inquiry.

BULLETIN.

(By United Press.)
Washington, July 20.—At a conference this afternoon between President Wilson and Senator Bankhead, the president gave further indication of intending to send a blanket protest to Great Britain against its interference with American commerce to neutral countries in addition to the protest filed in many individual cases. Bankhead said he was convinced the president was doing everything possible to secure concessions from Great Britain which would permit free commerce particularly in cotton.

BL CHARLES P. STEWART.
(U. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Washington, July 20.—In a cabinet council regarded as one of the most momentous since the civil war, President Wilson and his advisors today practically determined America's future attitude towards Germany.

For two hours and ten minutes the president and his ministry went over and over the note drafted by Secretary Lansing. It is an answer to Berlin's rejection of America's demand for humanitarian modification of Germany's submarine warfare.

The gravity of the conference was evident. The serious expression worn by all left no doubt on this point.

Cabinet members after the conference refused point blank to discuss the matter before the meeting beyond confirming the fact that a note is actually in preparation. Secretary Lansing likewise refused to talk on the subject.

It was stated that Mexican affairs were also considered.

Before the meeting the president and Secretary Lansing had an hour's private talk at the white house looking over the rough draft of the note.

The reported submarine attack on the Orduna with American passengers on board also was injected into the situation. Secretary Lansing announced a federal investigation of the incident had been ordered.

It was understood that the views of the president and Lansing were indorsed unanimously by the cabinet. The expectation was that Lansing would draft the formal, final note in accordance with the suggestions made today and submit it for a concluding cabinet examination next Friday, and that it would be dispatched early next week.

The state department began an investigation today of the Orduna incident. It asked the treasury department to obtain through customs officials affidavits by Canarder's crew and passengers and such other information as is available concerning reported submarine attack on the vessel.

This followed the receipt of a letter from W. O. Thompson, of Chicago, an Orduna passenger. Thompson did not claim to have personal knowledge of the torpedo attack but said he was awakened in his state room by the firing of shots, presumably from the submarine's deck guns.

Secretary Lansing said his department was still without information.

BIG GAME IN CALIFORNIA

Bakersfield, Cal., July 20.—Lassoing lions, a sport hitherto confined to the African jungles, bids fair to become an evening pastime for California ranchers, owing to the apparently increased numbers of mountain lions and their extraordinary boldness. For many years the beasts had been believed almost extinct. They seldom ventured near civilization. But recently two besieged several Los Angeles women in a cabin all night not far from Pasadena.

After that one made two appearances near here, once chasing a woman who escaped on horseback, and again leaping on the hood of an automobile. Ranchers in the vicinity of Tehachapi assembled a pack of hounds and hunted down another feline marauder after it had killed 100 hogs in a single night. Now the farmers are talking seriously about trying their hands with the lasso.

While the thrilling aerial and arenic acts, as well as sensational equestrianism and hippodrome track events, are absolutely essential to all big tented shows, their performance would fall flat were it not for the clowns. Primarily the majority of show-going enthusiasts, not to mention the small boys and girls, visit the canvas cities to be amused, and the salaried jesters must see to it that none are disappointed. Realizing that a goodly share of the success of the entertainment depends upon the funsters, the Robinson Famous Shows, which give afternoon and evening performances here Saturday, August 7, in West Third street, engaged for this season as unparalleled a quota of world-famous clowns as money can hire.

There is a veritable army of those jolly fellows, whose sole work is to provide wholesome laughs and amusement for all classes and all ages. From the time the main tent doors are open, which is an hour before the first act enters the rings, until the end of the program, the great hippodrome track swarm with harlequins, and mirth reigns fast and furious.

The Katzenjammer Kids, Buster Brown, Simple Simon, and the Billiken, those, together with all the other comic supplement characters, are there, as well as more than a score of others. Also a whole army of suffragettes. If you do not wish to enjoy hale and hearty jollity, it will be advisable to remain away from the Robinson Famous Shows. On the other hand, if you are suffering from an attack of the blues, a certain and permanent cure is assured if you attend the performance.

CAT SAILED 2 YEARS ALONE

San Francisco, July 20.—They tell this story in shipping circles here and say it's true: When the British ship Dalgomar was abandoned off the coast of Chile in October, 1913, a black cat aboard the vessel refused to leave with the crew. The abandoned hulk drifted nearly 2,000 miles and was recently sighted by a schooner off the island of Manihua after almost two years buffeting by the seas. The schooner took off the cat along with the Dalgomar's bell and other relics, but insurance was never collected on the vessel because it was claimed that owing to the presence of the cat, it was never entirely abandoned. The cat is said to have almost reached the end of its rat rations when rescued.

Sentiment is Changing

There was a series of distinct surprises in the public reception of Germany's reply to the President's note. Brushing aside the "jingo" idea that "We must get what we demanded because we demanded it" and ignoring the fulminations of leading metropolitan newspapers, the men in the street saw in the counter-proposals of the Imperial Government fair provision for the safety of American travelers and accepted this as granting the substance, is not the form, of the American demands.

This off their minds, the public began to question, as the New York "American" put it, "Whether the Government had any right to demand that Germany cease to attack British commerce except under regulations laid down by the American Government." When the issue seemed to be Humanity vs. International Law, the public was keen for Humanity, and was even willing to back the President in the experiment of attempting to make international law to fit the case, but the dictates of humanity having now been met by the Germans, the sentiment in the street has become more tolerant of submarine warfare, as something that no longer threatens American lives, except so far as Americans wilfully put themselves in peril.

With the simmering down of this issue, there came a crystallizing of the sentiment that "America should demand all its neutral right from all combatants, and nothing but its neutral rights from any combatant."

So the topic now is not so much the Lusitania as the interference with American commerce under the British Orders in Council. America's protest was flouted by the "long range blockade," which is no blockade.

There is a rapidly rising tide of resentment against this violation of the freedom of the seas, for which America fought in 1812, and there is steadily increasing demand that this Government deal as firmly with Great Britain as with Germany, defending all our just right, requiring that our commerce be respected as well as the lives of our people.

Of course this feeling is most keen right now, but it is a feeling that is radiating out along the national highways of trade to produce cities and towns whose goods are rotting, unpaid for in British ports.

So there was immediate popular response this week to the demand that the Congress be called together for the remedy lies in that body. The weapon to compel all belligerents to respect all American rights is not diplomatic correspondence, but the menace of an embargo.

The idea that America is making all sorts of money out of the war has been exploded. True enough, the balance of trade in favor of America is unprecedented, but the total foreign trade for the eleven months ended June 1 was only $4,016,067,000, a gain of only $72,174,000 over the corresponding period in the preceding year and of only $32,126,000 over the year before that.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

Free Trade Hits Kokomo

(Indianapolis Star)
The proprietors of the factories in Kokomo making opalescent glass have asked for a reduction of their tax assessments for last year because of the effect of the Underwood tariff law has had on business. The new tariff law admits duty free opalescent glass to be used in churches and public buildings. Most of the opalescent glass sold in this country goes into such buildings and the result is that the Kokomo factories are being shut out of trade by the operation of the law—and Kokomo has the distinction of making more opalescent glass than all other communities in the United States combined.

The experience of the Kokomo glassmakers well illustrates the effect on industry of applying the democratic free trade principle. The theory on which their product was placed on the free list was that the people—the builders of the churches and public buildings—should be enabled to get glass at the lowest price obtainable anywhere. The result is that those purchasers are sending to Europe instead of to Kokomo. They may be saving a few dollars; meanwhile the industry in this country is languishing.

Even the ultimate consumers who are benefited by such a shift in business may be pardoned for feeling that it is un-American. And most of them will not be averse to paying a little more for what they get so long as that is enabling us to build up new industries and to give employment to men who live according to our standard of living. There are many important activities in which we can compete with the world on an even basis but opalescent glass does not seem to be one of them. And so

(Philadelphia Ledger.)

The war in Europe has vetoed the low-tariff law. It has likewise flooded the country with war orders, putting many mills on full time. The result is a remarkable proof of the value of protection as a stimulator of prosperity. Business was stagnant while the Underwood tariff operated under normal conditions. The moment these conditions were changed and the war became a substitute for protection the return to prosperity began. The movement has been hastened by orders for war material, of course, but this has not been the decisive factor.

Mr. Wilson may see, therefore, a prosperity induced by the nullification of is economic measures; a prosperity brought about in spite of his policies, not on account of them. Nevertheless, he is certain to profit from the conditions. Voters do not ask why and wherefore. They are satisfied when they are prosperous, and dissatisfied when they are not prosperous. The war has introduced into political situation a new factor favorable to the Democrats.

It is imperative, therefore, that the Republican party enter the campaign next summer united. It has a hard fight ahead of it at any event. It cannot afford to be reactionary. It must be aggressive, as it was in Lincoln's day. It must wage a campaign of education. Otherwise the electorate may be deluded into believing that prosperity occasioned by temporary conditions is permanent. Our great industries must not be dependent on the policies of other nations, but on the economic program adhered to by the United States.

WAR NEWS FEATURE

Nisch, Serbia, May 3. (By Mail to New York)—Completely reorganized and equipped, Serbia's little army of 300,000 men that has twice already defeated the Austrians is today holding itself in readiness for an invasion of Hungary.

Despite the heavy losses of the Serbians, both in their previous conflicts with the Austrians, both in their previous conflicts with the Austrians and in the epidemic which is still sweeping the country, their army is now in perhaps better condition than ever before, thanks largely to the financial help of the Allies. The losses in the Serbians ranks have been largely filled by new troops that have been whipped into shape in the provinces of Macedonia which Serbia acquired during the recent Balkan wars. The fighting strength is still up to 300,000 men, the number with which Serbia began the present war.

Without question, however, the most important transformation in the Serbian army is that in its military operations, the Serbian army has been obliged to depend almost exclusively for transportation on ox carts.

The Wilderness Trace

Blazing a trail through the wilderness was an important work of pioneer days. The "traces" as the blazed trails were known were marked by two men who went ahead, blazing the road, while main force followed, cutting a path of sufficient width to admit the passage of a team. The work, leading through the woods and swamps, was difficult, and sometimes harrassed by prowling savages was dangerous. On one occasion on a dark rainy night, the sentinel of the camp of road makers found they were beset by lurking Indians. Quietly arousing his sleeping companions, all left the camp making their way to safety through the darkness by feeling of the notches and blazes cut in the trees, as trained woodsmen only could have done.

The Board is erecting a new building at the grounds, which it is to be used. It is of the bungalow type, twenty-four feet wide by thirty-six feet long, and is being finished in a pretty brown, with tapestry brick of a corresponding shade.

The interior is to be occupied by a composite exhibit, featuring the lumbering, timber preservation, and woodlot interests of the state. Several new departures for this season's exhibit are being planned, which will be of unusual interest to all. Further announcements will be made at an early date.

is such good tobacco you feel like you could just eat the smoke!

Yes, sir, P. A. puts a razor edge on your smoke-appetite-division that's nobby enough to be photographed! No other pipe and cigarette tobacco can be like Prince Albert, because no other tobacco can be made like Prince Albert. The patented process fixes that—and removes the tongue-bite and throat parch! Let that digest!

The toppy red bag, 5c

For you can put your little old blue-pencil O. K. right here that Prince Albert is a regular double-header for a single admission—as joy'us to your tongue and taste one way as the other!

Will the "rollers" kindly step forward for a spell and get some of this listen into their systems? Because Prince Albert certain and sure jams more joy into a makin's paper than ever before was figured up on two hands!

In the plain language of the hills, you can't any more resist such makin's tobacco than a bullfrog can pass up a piece of red flannel! Because P. A. hands to you everything any cigarette roller ever dreamed-out—rare flavor, and aroma, and mildness, and body; absolutely the best bet—the best smoke you or any other man ever did roll and put the fire to! Men, we tell you to wise up.

P. A. is crimp cut and stays put—which means rolling P. A. is as easy as falling off a log. And it's good to remember P. A. is put up in the toppy red bag especially for you "rollers." Sells for the price of a jitney ride, 5c.

Now, will the "pipers" kindly open both ears?

Here's tobacco that has made it possible for three men to smoke pipes where one smoked before!

Any way you hook it up, Prince Albert is tobacco insurance! Yes, sir, it guarantees your future as well as your present smokings! And just makes your tongue so jimmy pipe joy'us that your smoke appetite grows whopping big. You men who "dassn't," we say you go to P. A., natural-like! Because there isn't a bite in a barrel of this national joy smoke.

Unlimber your old jimmy pipe! Dig it out of the dark corner, jam it brimful of P. A. And make fire with a match! Me-o-my!

You get acquainted with Prince Albert in the toppy red bag, 5c; or tidy red tin, 10c, but for the double-back-action-joy, you buy a crystal-glass pound hamidor. And then you're set! You see, it has the sponge-moistener top and keeps P. A. at the highest top-notch point of perfection. Prince Albert is also sold in pound and half-pound tin hamidors.

DOING HEROIC WORK IN ITALY

Wife of American Ambassador to Rome Supervising Some of Most Effective Red Cross Efforts

IS WARM FRIEND OF QUEEN Places Herself at Disposal of "First Lady of Italy" And Makes Shirts For Soldiers.

BY ALICE ROHE
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Rome, June 16. (By Mail to New York)—Some of the most effective Relief work of Italy's war is being conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page, wife of the American Ambassador to the court at Rome. In a splendid suite of the Palazzo del Drago, the Ambassadorial residence, Mrs. Page has established a temporary work shop. Tables for cutting and sewing have replaced the costly furniture and here busy members of the American colony meet to plan and work for the soldiers at the front.

Mrs. Page, realizing the need of assistance, placed herself at the disposal of Queen Helena soon after Italy entered the conflict. The American ambassador and the Italian queen are warm personal friends. The Queen replied that she would be most grateful for the American women's help and that she needed two hundred shirts at once for use in her hospital on the first floor of the Quirinal.

Calling her friends of the American colony together, Mrs. Page immediately put her working rooms into a state of activity. Part of the work is given to the wives of men who have answered their country's call to the colors. The American Ambassador's wife, in this way is contributing to the support of these needy families. And Mrs. Page with typical American generosity, pays more than the regulation price for the making of shirts. Among Mrs. Page's assistants who are most active are Mrs. Dunn, wife of the Military attaché, Mrs. Train, wife of the Naval attaché, Mrs. Jay, wife of the first secretary of the American Embassy and Mrs. Webb, wife of Dr. Webb. The work of these American women in Rome is conducted without any heralding or confusion. There is never any question of funds for Mrs. Page has arranged everything herself, upon a most liberal basis. Queen Helena has expressed her deepest gratitude to the interest and activity manifested so promptly by the American Ambassador and her members of the American colony.

Mrs. Page is perhaps the most popular lady in Rome's diplomatic society. Diplomatic circles never tire of relating the quickness at her repartee. Mrs. Page's ready wit and quiet, decisive replies are famous in diplomatic social gatherings.

Recently at the Villa Ada where Mrs. Page was visiting Queen Helena the latter, first and foremost the devoted mother, spoke fondly of the young Prince Hubert. "You must see my boy," she said to Ambassador Page's wife. "Oh, yes, he is a handsome boy; he is a good boy, but that is not all. A soul looks forth from my son's eyes. I want you to see him and tell me if you do not see a beautiful soul looking back at you from his eyes."

When the youthful prince of Piedmont stood before the American Ambassador the latter looked at the manly little fellow before and said quietly, "He has his mother's eyes."

Before the departure of the Prince and Princess von Bulow from Rome at a diplomatic dinner the wife of the German Ambassador kept insisting upon recounting a list of the stories concerning the French and English atrocities against German soldiers.

It was while the ladies were waiting for the diplomats to have their final words over the cigars. Mrs. Page endured with well bred silence, as long as possible, the continued and nerve racking narration of atrocities. Then, unable to restrain herself further, she turned to the German princess and said in softly modulated tones; "Yes? They say the same of others."

BARN AND CONTENTS LOST

Lightning Hits Structure at Knightstown, Shocking Owner.

Knightstown, Ind., July 20.—Elmer Cox, of this city, lost his large barn and contents by lightning Sunday evening and also had a narrow escape from death.

Mr. Cox was milking a cow when the barn was struck and he and the cow were both knocked down and stunned for a short time. Mr. Cox suffered no serious injury, however. The barn and contents were insured.

WHALEN FINED.

Robert Whalen, who was arrested Sunday on a charge of public intoxication and entered a plea of not guilty, decided that he did not have sufficient evidence to fight the charge and changed his plea to guilty. Mayor Bebout fined him five and costs, amounting to $15. Whalen was warned that the next time would get a trip to the penal farm.

DEATH RATE FOR OVER 40 HIGHER

Those About That Age do Not Have Chance to Live Grandfather Had His Day.

SO SPEAKS THE STATE BOARD

Increasing Tendency Toward Sedentary Occupations is Working Toward Degeneracy.

A statement in a recently issued bulletin of the state board of health, says, "If you are past 40 years of age, you do not have the chance to live that your father and especially your grandfather had in their day." Have you a hobby that takes you out of doors, the bulletin advises for in spite of all our modern skill in medicine and surgery, the death rate of people who have passed the age of 40 is slowly and persistently going up.

The sciences of prevention, sanitation and medicine are doing wonders toward lowering the death rate among those under the age of 40 but the increasing tendency toward sedentary occupations is working toward degeneracy in the vital organs of those who have passed the age of 40.

Muscles are weakening because of the lack of use; arteries are hardening because of the high blood pressure; nerves are wearing out because of over stimulation and excitement; and heart, kidney and other diseases are increasing in activity. In other words people are either wearing themselves out by over-exertion along the lines of mentality or else they are decaying by reason of lack of exercise.

Therefore, advise the board of health, take exercise. Take daily exercise. Walk to your business, to your dressmaker, walk for the sake of walking. Join a walking club and keep a score of miles. Or if you won't walk then keep chickens, make garden, wheel the baby, play golf or any other game, but do take two hours' outdoor exercise every day.

This does not mean, the board goes on to state that you are to become an athlete. Athletes often die young because they over-exert. It does not become necessary to try to become a "strong man." Be a moderate, persistent and daily exponent of exercise.

The bulletin also urges that strong measures be taken to secure the observance of the law regarding the registration of births. It is a fact, although not well known, that a physician is not entitled to any fee if he does not properly file the birth registration certificate within 36 hours after the birth of a child.

Numerous incidents may be recalled by almost any one concerning the settlement of estates, delicate points in law and other cases where individuals have suffered because of the lack of proper identification in regard to parentage, age, and the like, an incident of this sort is given by the bulletin as follows:

W. L. Van Campen is a sailor on the U. S. war vessel North Dakota. Mr. Van Campen writes the state board of health for a transcript of his birth record. He says: "I do not know positively that I was born in Indiana, but I have heard my parents say that that state is the place of my birth. I have enlisted in the United States navy for the second time, I have done four years' In order that I may receive the pay and extras for being a citizen of the United States I have got to have a copy of my certificate of birth. I must prove my citizenship and prove that I was born in the United States."

This is interesting evidence of the importance of recording births. If it is found that Mr. Van Campen's birth was not registered in Indiana he will be a loser in that he will not be able to prove his citizenship and receive the pay and allowances that are made for citizens.

SWISS METHOD HIGHLY PRAISED

American in Switzerland Tells How Little Republican Goes About Preparing Its Boys.

FOR SERVICE IN THE ARMY

They May Begin Early in Life and Get Training in Small Doses or Wait Until They Are 21.

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Chiasse, Switzerland, June 3. (By Mail to New York)—Luigi Corti owns the biggest store in this town. He's an American citizen; he fought in the Spanish-American war in the Philippines; he lived fourteen years at Marshall, Texas. He knows about the Swiss army, as well as the American army and I'm going to put down a little talk that I heard Luigi giving a discouraged Englishman, who was complaining that Englishmen weren't enlisting. He may furnish an idea about how to raise a good army in the United States some day.

"Englishmen don't enlist," said Luigi. "No wonder. They haven't got any interest in their army, because their army never held any interest in them. Do you know how we raise our army in Switzerland?"

The discouraged Englishman didn't.

"I'm going to tell you about a boy that works for me. Every other Swiss boy has the same experience that he has. A Swiss boy has got two plans to choose from; he can either wait until he's twenty years old and take his training in large doses or he can begin when he's fifteen and spread it out. Pietro, my boy wanted to spread it out. So, every Sunday morning, from six o'clock in the morning until 11, he's at the barracks, being trained with lots of other boys. Six months every year we must do this, until he's twenty. He's given a rifle, a uniform and all the fittings of a soldier and he's taught to shoot and do all the other things that a soldier is expected to do. He takes all his outfit home with him and keeps it there. At a moment's notice he may be called out to show how well he is caring for his kit. He is trained in gymnastics and in athletics and he learns all the rules of warfare. By the time he's twenty years old he's got an interest in his country and in its army.

"Talk about sharpshooters in Texas," said Luigi, turning to me. "I love Texas, but these Swiss boys can outshoot any Texan I ever saw. Every village has got its rifle ground? The ammunition is free. The government gives medals. Every now and then there is a big shoot in some big town. The interest in shooting is so great that the hotels in this town will be filled to overflowing. People will come from all parts of the country. Newspapers will get out extra editions about the scores."

"Well, as soon as a boy is twenty years old, he is called to serve 65 days, every year, in some barracks or some camp. This goes on every year until he is thirty, though, if he began the Sunday drilling before he was twenty, he gets considerable time off every year, after his first two annual encampments. Between thirty and forty he serves fifteen days a year. "Is it true?" Luigi asked the Englishman, "that when a man in our country enlists he's likely to lose his job?"

"Why yes," said the Englishman. "Good Lord, no wonder they don't enlist!" said Luigi. "Why, in our country business men have to keep the jobs open for their men and boys who are called away. They're half a million men in the Swiss army on duty at the frontiers now but every one knows that his job is waiting for him when he comes back."

"How do you mobilize in your country?"

"Just send word around to the homes that the men are wanted at a certain place at a certain time. Each man gets out his uniform, his rifle, his ammunition and his emergency rations and goes to the meeting place. That's all there is to it."

"How do you raise officers in your Swiss army?"

"Any young man who wants to be an officer, can do so, if he's intelligent and is willing to put extra time on the job. The beauty of being an officer is that the government gives him a good position in peace times on the government railroads or in the postoffice."

"It's too late for England," said the discouraged Englishman. Przemysl had just fallen again, like Juarez, Mexico, used to fall in Madero's time, and the Briton said frankly that things looked dark.

"Well, it isn't too late for the United States," said Luigi. "It's a system that makes fine men."

The strongest, finest, sturdiest soldiers I have seen in Europe are these same Swiss. They're not bloodthirsty professional soldiers created by militarism; they're merely good, strong Swiss citizens, trained to defend their country if the need arises.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush the Kidneys at once when Back-ache or Bladder bothers—Meat forms uric acid.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidney pores so they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood, then you get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

MAY GET THEIR "WAR TAX" BACK

Trust Companies Stand to "Recover" Because Carelessness of Law Makers.

ARE PREPARING TO LITIGATE

Oversight Lies in the Fact That They Failed to Define Properly The Word Bankers.

Washington, July 20.—Every dollar of the hundreds and thousands paid by trust companies to the government under the provisions of the "war tax" law may have to be returned because of Democratic carelessness.

Practically every trust company in the United States which has paid, under protest, the tax provided by paragraph 1 of section 3 of the "war tax" is preparing to litigate the right of the government to collect. Test cases have already been brought in various federal courts. The foundation for these suits was laid by the Democrats through an apparent oversight in drafting the law.

The oversight lay in the failure to define properly "bankers." The blunder is emphasized by the fact that but a few months before the "war tax" was levied, the Democratic Congress had appropriated thousands of dollars to pay back to trust companies a refund ordered by federal courts following litigation on the same question.

Section 3 of the "war tax" declares that bankers "shall pay $1 for every $1000 of capital used or employed." It then defines who shall be termed a "banker" under the act. The definition of a "banker" is identical with that which the federal courts but a short time before held adequate to render trust companies liable to such a tax.

The Democrats had ample warning. The language of the federal court's decision conclusively showed that "bankers" must be more adequately defined to include trust companies.

"In the case at bar," said the decision, "the plaintiff is not a bank or banker, and though it does some of the things enumerated in the section as indicative of such business, its principal business seems to be distinctively that of a trust company."

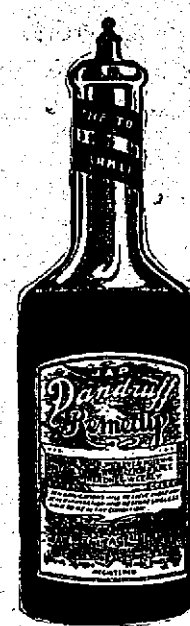

The court further points out that the resources on which the tax was collected and ordered returned were "invested in municipal and railroad bonds and in the stocks of corporations." The Internal Revenue Office has required trust companies to pay the tax upon the class of securities, and in the cases now pending claim for recovery is based on the allegation that the securities taxed are invested "in municipal and railway bonds and in the stocks of corporations."

Whether or not the trust companies are successful in their proceedings, the fact remains that Democratic blundering is responsible for this expensive litigation, which adds tremendously to the cost of administering the law and may largely reduce revenues.

Like numerous other "jokers" in Democratic laws, these mischievous errors exist only because of wholesale disregard of elementary principles of legislation.

"ZONE" IS JOY SPOT OF EX"PO"

"Zoning" Still New to San Francisco and is Ever New to Endless Stream of Americans.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PLACE

Miniature "Old Faithful" Spouts in Model Yellowstone Park Which is Set up.

BY FRED S. FERGUSON.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

San Francisco, July 20.—To the last dress! To the last bitter protest of tired feet and fagged bodies; until dancers drop into chairs exhausted and worn; until barker's throats are dry and their voices cracked from hours of shouting and cajoling; until one by one the myriad lights fade out, and standing gaunt against the sky appear only the skeleton outlines of a fairy city.

So San Francisco and its thousands of visitors take their pleasure upon the "Zone," the joy spot of the Panama Pacific Exposition.

It is far into the night. Over the noisy babble of voices come the notes of a bugle. They ride upon a breeze heavy with the odor of Japanese rice cake, pop corn and handy out-door kitchens. Upon a balcony, high above the joy-seeking throng a young woman in a much be-braided suit of semi-military cut supplies the lung power for the bugle, summoning all who still have a dance left in their system or are looking for a "reviver" to carry them through another hour. It is a German place, is the "fortifying" position, but world's fair crowds are strictly neutral. A giant guardsman in doublet and hose stands forbiddingly before the door. The long spear upon which he leans, however, is for other purposes than guarding the sacred portals. He is more likely to give you a friendly jab with the working end of the spear to assist you in, if there is any hesitancy.

Across the way the barker for an Irish village bids for patronage against the Teuton fortress. The glories of a nearby alligator farm are mixed with your anticipation of Irish joy, and, towering above you, but a step away is a giant "Mother Eve" of the inevitable Exposition attraction "Creation."

"Zoning" is still new to San Francisco, and is ever new to the endless stream of Americans, possibly for the first time in their lives determined to "see America first."

There is the soft perfume of flowers, the quiet music of numerous fountains, the soft glow of invisible lights, the flutter of the wings of doves. You pass down the long line of palms, heavy with clinging vines and flowers. You quicken your step to keep time with a band playing just across the way.

But now there is a new sound. You are still within ear-shot of the band, but no longer hear it. There is a bang and crash. You are at the head of the Zone. A metallic sounding mechanical orchestra bangs out the latest song hit. It is the first thing on the Zone and something which every American knows—a Merry-go-Round. Stretching ahead is a mile of lights, laughing people, noise and action.

Behind you are the works and ideals of America. Before you is America at play.

From this American merry-go-round you may eat, drink and dance your way through the Panama Canal zone, over the ice of the South Pole with Capt. Scott, see educated horses, diving girls, or the crazy lo-sided village of Toyland with its "toy" soldiers towering sixty feet high. There are villages of Australasia and Samok, and hopping back to our own continent, of Mexico. A step and you are in Japan with fat wrestlers, monkey shows and innumerable fakirs demanding attention.

While a miniature "Old Faithful" spouts in a miniature Yellowstone Park, there floats up to the broad veranda of the Inn the "oo-la-la" music of the Turkish dancers. There is to be found—in the Orient, not the Inn—Holy Moses, the camel hero of numerous Expositions, the gun spinners and the inevitable line of "Princesses" whose kind was originally made famous by the first "Streets of Cairo."

"Old Faithful" is the end of the Zone. But there is the opportunity for more to eat, drink and a dance before starting to work your way back. One by one concessions close, lights flicker and go out. A fresh, cold breeze comes off the bay. Fog begins to lower, chasing the heavy rice cake fumes. Tired dancers, diving girls and barkers step from different shows and join the diminishing crowds. There is nothing more to see, but still the pleasure seekers linger along the deserted thoroughfare. Let's all go home.

But listen! The bugle! The girl in the, braided suit, the giant guardsman, music, the dance. And so, to the last dress!

MOTHERS' PENSION LAWS DISCUSSED

National Convention is Opened With Representatives Present From Twenty-Five States

ELKS WILL LIKELY ATTEND

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, July 20.—Delegates from twenty-five states of the Union which four years ago knew nothing of the pensioning of mothers for the abolishment of child-poverty, are today meeting in the first annual session of the National Mothers' Convention at the Civic Auditorium. The subject of pensions from all angles and particularly the practice and theory of the present laws will be discussed.

Ways and means will be devised to have the mothers' pension system taken over by the public school systems of various states. Today a majority of the states pay mother's pensions through the juvenile courts but this gives too much of a flavor of criminality to the movement. More than 60,000 Elks, standing for the principles of mothers' pensions, have been invited to attend the convention. It is estimated during the ensuing year more than $10,000,000 will be paid to mothers for taking care of their own children, where the main support of the family has either died or failed to discharge his duty.

WILL DRESS UP

(By United Press.)

La Porte, Ind., July 20.—This city's civilian soldiers, Company B of the Third Regiment of the Indiana National Guard, are to appear in true military style at drill tonight. The company recently received nearly a carload of equipment consisting of uniforms, arms and trench implements. The new uniforms will be used for the first time tonight.

DENTISTS HOPE TO HAVE FUND

Plan an Endowment For The Carrying on of Research Work Regarding Diseases From Teeth

LARGE AMOUNT IS SECURED

Will be Carried on in Various Parts of Country—One Million is Mark Set

(By United Press.)

Cleveland, O., July 20.—Important discoveries leading to methods for combating diseases resulting from bad teeth are expected to follow the establishment here of the Research Institute of the National Dental Association. To carry forward this work an endowment fund of $1,000,000 will be raised; $54,000 has already been secured, mainly from dentists.

The purpose of the Institute, according to incorporation papers recently filed, is the "finding and establishing of means for relief of mankind from the indirect and direct ravages of dental and oral diseases; to support, establish and encourage investigation, research and discovery of knowledge and the dissemination thereof to the improvement of mankind."

It is the plan of the Association to assist financially researches that are being contemplated or carried on in various parts of the country by those who have become especially proficient in certain lines and are confronted by problems they are trying to solve. Research work will also be done in Cleveland.

Valuable contributions from the investigators on the following topics are expected. The relation of mouth infection to diseases of various parts of the body; the relation of saliva to conditions of decay of teeth, the causative factors of pyorrhea; and better combinations of metals for filling cavities.

IOWA LEADS IN AIDING CRIPPLES

State Officers Aid to Those Not Able to Pay And Many Are Taking Advantage of Law

NO TIME LIMIT TO TREATMENT

Des Moines, Ia., July 20.—Iowa is leading the world in the humanitarian movement to save the crippled and deformed. The new Perkins law directs that every child under 16 who suffers from deformities or malady that may be cured and whose parents are not able to provide the necessary medical and surgical attention, will be guests of the state at the state university hospital, Iowa City, under care of specialists, the state paying transportation, medical attention and nursing bills.

There is no time limit on the treatment. Parents of such children make applications for treatment to the district court. The court names a physician to make examination and on his report orders the child to Iowa City. It is expected thousands of deformed poor children will be made strong under the provisions of this law.

Skirts Made of Tickling Are The Rage In World of Fashion

BY MARGARET MASON.
(Written for United Press.)

There are clocks upon her stockings. Her skirt is ticking too. Indeed a much more timely maid. 'Twere hurt to find for you.

New York, July 20.—Stop, look and listen! Have you heard the new skirt—its ticking. It's also quite loud. It's fast too—fast colors. Mostly colored in blue and white stripes like the Ostermoors are made of. There are other color combinations in all the new shades combined with white that prove even more effective skirting the summer girls than covering the husks and breakfast food of a summer matress.

Worn with the sheer white organ-die blouses of those blouses frimmed with pastel tinted batiste or linen these ticking skirts are particularly good. They are usually made with the quaint and yet practical applied side pockets of the present mode and are ideal for the country, the shore or any sport as well as being equally appropriate and smart for morning town and street wear. With cretonne and ticking both being so extensively worn the old adage "Make your bed and lie in it" must need now be changed to "unmake your bed and dress in it." The gist of the matter in a few words is if you have to first get it on tick.

It seems as if Dame Fashion were kidding us. In our weakest spot, too—the head. If you have noticed the very newest of the new tiny turbans you already know its a kid without my telling you. Dainty little all white kid affairs are the very smartest kind with a close second in a magpie black and white kid combination. Others there are developed in kid of any delicate pastel shade but it is the all white kid hat that has the sanction of most fastidious approval.

Before we pass the hat entirely it is well to mention the broad brimmed chateau so prevalent for the nonce that is made of an open work straw mesh not unlike a basket but nearer a replica of the common or garden cane seat in a kitchen chair. They come in all colors and their brims are bound in a contrasting tint of ribbon. They are simply trimmed in a posy or so or a mere band of the same binding ribbon around the crown.

Mrs. Vernon Castle has the responsibility for this faddy concoction at her door along with so many other charmingly quaint sartorial indiscretions. It is true that the summer girl affecting this cane seated hat is apt to be spotted both by the son of man and the sun of heaven. But after all what could be more delightfully appropriate than that the seat of a maid's intelligence be cane seated as 'twere.

At last the glove-like Italian silk so long confined merely to the shaping of under garments has burst its lingerie bounds and stepped into the outer garment class. It is now being used not only for lovely long sweater like sport coats and Norfolk jacket effects in all brightest hues but stunning blouses are now fashioned of it in lovely tones of Old blue, gold and rose. Not to mention many chaste bodices of pure white and a few in the same flesh tints that are decidedly reminiscent of its undergarment uses.

Just why this loosely meshed and woven silk should be dubbed Italian or Milanese silk is indeed a poser since it is unknown quality as well as quality in the land of buried Caesars. With underwear material being so flagrantly pressed into service for outerwear it is obvious that an exclusive new material be evolved for wear next to the skin. Judging from a sample of flesh colored silken garments exposed in a Fifth Avenue lingerie shop I should say that the newest open work lace mesh silk now offered for next to skin wear is also next to nothing.

WILSON CONFERS WITH MINISTRY

tion to substantiate that a torpedo was fired at the Orduna without warning.

Germany will be told substantially in the note now being prepared at the State Department and the White House that she must not use the present situation as a club to hit Great Britain or to force the American Government to settle her controversy with the English Government.

This decision, made today, stands out pre-eminently as the one new definite statement of the attitude on the part of the United States toward Germany. Officials say it will appear in the forth-coming restatement of the case of the United States to Germany on the Lusitania tragedy and all correlated subjects.

President Wilson, who returned here Monday, lost no time in getting the written views of the legal experts of the State Department and memoranda from Secretary of State Lansing concerning the reply.

The President and his new premier discussed the American-German situation for about an hour Monday. The president made no comment on the conference except to indicate it was his desire that there should be no speculation on the forthcoming reply. This much is, nevertheless, known as coming from official sources.

The President and the Secretary of State had no reason again to discuss the physical facts with respect to the Lusitania. The history of that tragedy is complete and unchangeable so far as facts are concerned.

The subjects of discussion between the President and Mr. Lansing, it is asserted, were solely on the legal aspects of the issue between the two countries.

The legal arguments were presented to the President in documents

voluminous enough to fill the portfolio of the Secretary of State, which he took to the White House. In addition to these Mr. Lansing also had the views of the German Ambassador as outlined in the recent conversations between them at the State Department. The subject matter of these conversations or oral arguments by the Ambassador probably will never be made public, but it is admitted by officials that the Ambassador had undoubtedly official warrant for the expression of his views, and therefore they must be considered in the final audit.

FIGHTS SMOKE NUISANCE.

Columbus, O., July 20.—Education, persuasion and finally compulsion are the methods being used by the Columbus smoke inspection department to abate the smoke and soot nuisance. The department is teaching factory managers who permit their smokestacks to fill the air with tons of unconsumed fuel that they are wasting money, that proper appliance and firing will cut down their fuel bill and keep surrounding air pure, and that obstinacy in compliance with suggestions will be met with compulsion.

"TWILIGHT" SLEEP BABY.

Warsaw, Ind., July 20.—This city claims the distinction of being one of the few cities in the state having a "Twilight" sleep baby. He, for it is a boy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Neher, made his advent into this world at the Mary Thompson hospital in Chicago.

TRAVELED 31,300 MILES.

Bellefontaine, O., July 20.—"Boh," a horse driven by N. C. Oder for ten years with a baker's wagon, has missed only 5 days on his trips. His has traveled more than 31,300 miles, delivering more than 145,300 loaves of bread and millions of cookies.

Annual Catholic Carnival Will Open
at St. Mary's Park and Continue Until Saturday.

GROUNDS LOOK INVITING

Everything is in readiness on the "Hill" for a gala week, it was announced today by the management of the Catholic carnival, which will open tonight and will continue throughout Saturday. The carnival will get under way as soon as the Odd Fellows band arrives from down town, where it will give a short concert before proceeding to the park.

It is said that the grounds at St. Mary's park never looked more inviting. The booths, all particularly attractive, have all been arranged and the merry-go-round arrived yesterday and was being set up today.

The principal thing going on the opening night will be a program to be presented by the children in the church hall. Two shows will be given, the first at 8:15 and the second at 9:30, each to last thirty-five minutes.

The Pythian Sisters will meet Wednesday evening. The officials for the ensuing year will be installed and a large attendance is desired.

ped or else someone might get hurt.

The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce at its last meeting invited citizens generally to meet with the council Tuesday night August 20 to consider the problem, and cards have been sent out notifying tonight is the time.

Richmond is up against the same thing as Rushville. Alfred Bavis, president of the board of works there, in a statement to the newspapers yesterday, advocated an ordinance which would designate the kind of traffic to be used in certain streets and would prohibit the parking of automobiles in Main street.

Mr. Bavis declared the streets particularly dangerous on Saturday nights when only a narrow passageway is left for the movement of traffic. He said a run by the fire department at any time might mean the loss of life to persons on the street. This he pointed out would make the city liable for damages.

As the city council is also wrestling with traffic problem the board suspended discussion without making any recommendations.

NO WAR ON JITNEYS.

Elkhart, Ind., July 20.—There is no war in this city against jitney busses. This far they have rendered efficient service and have not offered destructive competition with the street cars, said Mayor Smith of Elkhart today. The city has a number of jitney busses and they have prospered and proved popular. Mayor Smith believes that there is no need for legislation against the tickle-a-ride outfit.
